Glorious Summer in Macao

With summer just around the corner, Macao has set in motion a seasonal program of exhilarating events. Come share the excitement of sports competitions and celebrate colorful festivals with gusto!

Racing dragons

The Dragon Boat Festival (on the 5th day of the 5th month in the Chinese lunar calendar) commemorates the ancient patriotic Chinese poet Qu Yuan, who drowned himself in protest of government corruption. Today, the celebrations revolve around the much-anticipated large-scale annual Macao International Dragon Boat Races, which have enjoyed strong support from locals and visitors alike since 1979.

Dragon boat teams from a host of countries and regions, including China, Hong Kong, Japan, Korea, the Philippines, Singapore, Thailand, as well as from as far away as Australia, Europe, and the US, will assemble in Macao for this carnival event which promises not only a lot of muscle power in the very keen competition, but also plenty of fun and good cheer.

In the past, the races took place primarily on Nam Van and Sai Van Lakes. But since the establishment of the Nam Van Lake Nautical Centre on the historic Praia Grande shorefront, the venue has provided the ideal setting and amenities for the international competition.

Jointly organized by the Sports Bureau of Macao SAR Government and Dragon Boat Association of Macao, China, the Race is not only a widely popular and significant sports event, but also one of the favorite outdoor parties in the territory, with arts and crafts booths, as well as food stalls.

Since 2001, the International University Student Dragon Boat Races for men and women have been incorporated in the programme, bringing even more vibrant actions and festive cheers.

Finding beauty in simple things

Good news for art lovers! Local artist Fan Sai Hong holds his first solo exhibition in Taipa Village Art Space, with his unique collection of sketchbook drawings that document his life experiences over a decade. The variety of media, artistic expressions and drawing styles reflect Hong's moods at specific periods and circumstances.

The exhibition also debuts Hong's comic book series from 2016, featuring 40 drawings that collectively tell the story of a little boy who embarks on a lonely journey through the wilderness, to make the spiritual transition into manhood. The storyboard reveals Hong's belief in the ideal relationship between man and nature, where the simple things in life prevail in their purest state.

Grass sliding

Summer can provide the idyllic condition for some breezy outdoor adventures – grab a toboggan and zoom down the hill! Located on Taipa Grand Hill to the east of Taipa Island, the Taipa Grande Nature Park features a 20-meter fast and furious grass-skiing slope that is a lot of adrenaline-pumping fun for all ages!

And if that's not enough, there is a whole range of other leisure amenities like the sculpture park of the Chinese ethnics, a barbecue zone, children's playground, a miradouro, and a hiking trail encircling the hill, with panoramic views of the Cotai skyline. Or you can just sit back for some airplane spotting, and bathe in the warm glow of a spectacular sunset.
